What have we been learning?

The children started the week as 'Palaeontologists' searching for fossils in our outdoor area. We found lots of bones, teeth and footprints that we examined and decided were dinosaur remains! We have spent time researching different dinosaurs and found out lots of interesting facts. The children were introduced to our new TalkforWriting story for the half-term, 'Harry and the Bucketful of Dinosaurs'. In maths, the children in Reception have been halving and sharing different amounts and the Nursery children have been having a go at writing numbers to match amounts.

We are looking forward to welcoming you all to another 'Look at My Learning!' session on Thursday, and Reception parents/carers to join a maths lesson with your child on Friday (9-10am).

Remember to look at our school website to see photos of our learning!

Thought for the week...

How can you help someone who is lonely?

Take a look at our STARS OF THE WEEK!

Helping at Home

Remember to read with/to your child every day at home to help develop their love of reading and books!

Nursery: Practise writing numbers to 5 and then to 10. Can you find the correct amount of objects to match your numbers?

Reception: Gather a given number of objects in your house e.g. 5 spoons. Can this amount be shared fairly between 2? Can it be halved?

Follow our school Twitter account for updates and challenges to try at home!

Don't forget...

Please ensure your child's Reading Record and reading book is kept in their bookbag at all times. Your child's reading book will not be changed until the old one is returned. Thank you.
